 and a total of about 300 troops on 14 boxcars. The unit had come from the Wuhlheide and left toward Gruenau at about 1 p.m. ¹

2. On 4 August the Wuhlheide and Biesdorf Schlosspark assembly areas were still occupied by troops. Twenty-five tanks and SU-100 and JSU-152 guns were in the Biesdorf Schlosspark.

3. From 10:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. on 4 August, 12 T-34/85 tanks, 6 to 8 AT guns, 3 armored scout cars, 3 jeeps, 2 field kitchens, 2 ambulances, 2 van-like trucks and 10 to 15 trucks, including some carrying billeting equipment and and others of the B 8-01-xx series; and 10 boxcarloads of troops were entrained at the Schoeneweide railroad station. ¹

4. On 4 August, 10 T-34/85 tanks 2 armored scout cars, 50X1-HUM 3 x 76-mm field guns; about 35 trucks, 1 radio truck, 1 jeep, 1 machine gun carrier, and 15 boxcarloads of troops were entrained in Schoeneweide and, at 1:15 p.m., left toward Gruenau. ¹

5. On 29 July, three columns, each of about 70 to 80 vehicles, including trucks, jeeps, radio trucks and van-like trucks 50X1-HUM were in the assembly area in the Wuhlheide, immediately east of the Suedbahnhof Wuhlheide-Ostend road. A tent camp of 15 house tents, about 60 x 12-man tents and about 100 small quadrangular tents adjoined the motor pool. Two one-story temporary buildings were in the center of the tent camp. Four to 6 x 100-mm AT guns, about 8 x 76-mm light field guns, and about 6 to 8 mortars were seen at a gun parking lot on the north edge of the camp. Another four mortars were emplaced on the west edge of the camp. The tent
